A.M. Session:

Spurs Fight Off Magic

The Spurs started the morning out strong and played a great game. Braxton hustled hard to save the ball and get it to Bird who hit the open 3 as the time expired. CJ had several key rebounds and Matthew Smallwood played tough nose defense. As a team, they are hoping to continue their hard work and get better!

Hawks Slip Past the Nuggets

Today in the NBA, the Hawks beat the Nuggets with a score of 25-22. The Hawks played a hard fought game but James Williams and Seth Adkins helped the Hawks take flight and get past the Nuggets.

Bulls Sweep the Heat

On the 1st day of play, the Bulls played with heart and ran the offense to perfection. Though the game was close in the beginning, the Bulls defensive pressure caught fire which led to easy transition baskets. Kane Dixon and Josh Fayette played great defense. Chance short and Kyle Rollins sparked the offense.

Thunder Slams the Mavs

The Thunder did an excellent job defending the Mavs offense and turned turnovers into points. John Haskins played tremendous defense inside, not letting the ball get inside. Layne Pickerill also did a great job guarding the ball. Bomani Taylor ran the offense well. He scored points and got everyone involved. Watch out for the Thunder this year!

Lakers Defeat Hornets

The Lakers were off to an impressive start in their 33-18 victory over the Hornets. Jimmy Ward set the tone for the Lakers with his hard work attitude. The Lakers were able to capture the victory through hustle and great defense. Overall, it was a great team effort and you can look to see more from this impressive Lakers team.

Celtics Get By Suns

The luck of the Irish lead the Celtics to an overtime win over the Suns. A strong 2nd half pushed the Celtics over top as the offense of Marcus Potter carried Boston to their first win of the season. The Celtics controlled the defensive boards as Wes Jarrell and Connor Patrick led the Celtics in rebounding. The Suns tied the score with 15 seconds left in regulation. In over time, Marcus Potter made a back door cut that left him wide open in front of the basket for a victory.

P.M. Session:

Suns Over Lakers

The Suns were able to capture a 10 – 2 victory over the Lakers. Austin Spears had a good defensive game and Jamaal Glick had a tremendous game on the offensive and defensive boards. Everyone gave a great effort and it was an all around team win.

Mavs Thump Hornets

The Mavs capture a 6-2 victory over the Hornets. The Mavs were led by the great rebounding skills of Ethan Quinn and Ennis Thomas. The Mavs played with intensity and gave a great effort.

Spurs Take Down Celtics

The Spurs had to battle, but came out victorious over the Celtics with a final score of 4-2. Jacob Neal and CJ Smith did a great job of running “Camp O” and allowing the Spurs a “W”.

Thunder Shakes Up Heat

The Thunder beat the Heat in sudden death this afternoon with a score of 8-6. Bomani Taylor made the game winning basket. Shawnathon Scarberry did an excellent job running the offense for our team. The NBA better have sunglasses because this Thunder team is as bright as the sun!

Bulls Blow By Nuggets

Due to weather, the Bulls were forced to play half court offense which was great! This gave the Bulls an opportunity to run through sets. Josh Fayette played awesome on both sides of the ball. Again, Kyle Rollins played great offensively, making clutch shots. Both teams executed the offense well!

Magic Strikes Hawks

The Magic had a lot of success with the camp offense. Derreck and Tristen played great offensively. They also did a good job making a pass, then cutting to the basket for easy shots. Defensively, we did a better job of communicating and were in better help side positions.

Night Session:

Mavs with another Victory

Another close win for the Mavs with a final score of 25-21 against the Suns. The Mavs can credit their victory to great team offense, with everyone contributing. Hunter Hempstead and Marcus Branch played special roles defensively, getting low and denying access to the paint.

Magic Fall Short to Bulls

The Bulls pull away with the 33-31 victory in overtime. Described as a “thriller”, the Bulls played a great defensive game. Every member of the team contributed by making clutch shots and grabbing key rebounds. The Bulls look to keep improving and working on the Camp O.

Hornets Sting Heat

Chemistry was a key factor in the win for the Hornets today. There has been many changes in the line up and they have found the one. The 24-16 victory was led by the point guard Clay Stratton, who had a monstrous game. Big men Alex Nance and Marcus Day had huge roles grabbing rebounds left and right. Guards Chris Hucks and Ryan Schenklerberg helped spread the floor cutting to the rim and getting some good assists. Ryann Gibson and Brett Haislop played key roles with handling the ball and helping break the pressure. Devin Henry was the hidden talent that came from nowhere by getting nice cuts to the basket.

Hawks Slip by Celtics

The entire line up brought to the table for the Hawks got up and down the floor and defended well in the second half. James Williams was the floor general as he dropped dime after dime to his men underneath. All members of the team stepped up and defended well, making steals and causing the offense to scramble.

Thunder Shakes Nuggets

It was a hard fought battle but the Thunder prevailed with a win late in the game. Logan Stepp ran the point well and got a basket whenever we needed it. Austin Doss played great defense and pulled down huge rebounds. Coach Jenkins is proud of the way his players played and can't wait to continue the road to the Triple!

Lakers Snag the Spurs

The Lakers are back on track! After a tough last game, the LA Lakers battled back after trailing by 7 going into the 4th quarter. Jared Williamson controlled the paint, grabbing key rebounds. As a team, the Lakers look to keep on improving.
